This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

SINCE 1859, the date of our last printed Catalogue, the Library has increased from three to seven thousand volumes. The need of a new Catalogue was so apparent and so urgent, that a call for a special meeting was very generally signed. In accordance with the call, a special meeting of the Lyceum was held early in August, at which a Committee of five was appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the preparation and printing of a new Catalogue. The Library has been entirely rearranged ; works of fiction being placed together, according to their authors, and other works according to their subjects. In the plan of the Catalogue, short titles have been adopted ; each book has been catalogued once under its title, and, wherever it seemed advisable, books have been entered more than once under proper initial words. The more important works have also been arranged under their respective subjects. The names of authors are given where there is more than one book in the Library by the same author, and in the case of poems and a few important books, where there is but one. The whole being arranged in one alphabetical series ; a work can easily be found if either the author, the subject, or the title is known. Where there is more than one copy of a book, or set of books, the abbreviation c., with the proper number, is used ; and for volume, v.

For a popular circulating Library like ours, this system of cataloguing seems to combine more advantages than any other.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

THE Franklin Lyceum was established in the summer of 1831, by Levi M. Holden, Daniel A. Jackson and William B. Shove. By the records of the twenty-first of April, 1832, the Society then consisted of Messrs. Holden, Jackson and Shove, together with Charles Cushing, Frank Cushing, Crawford Nightingale and Geronimo Urmeneta. These were all scholars in Mr. De Witt's school on Waterman street, at the time of the organization of the Society, and the first meetings were held at their homes on Friday evenings, after the labors of the school were over. The officers were elected quarterly. The exercises consisted of lectures and debates. The first regular room occupied by the Lyceum was in the basement of Mr. Shove's house on Benefit street, nearly opposite the Central Congregational Church, where a library, and a cabinet of minerals, shells, chemical apparatus and antiquities were commenced. The first room hired by the Society was in a small building opposite Dr. Hall's Church, on Benefit street. Their next room was in the third story of the Arcade, which they occupied until April, 1835, when they removed to the De Witt building on Waterman street, where the meetings were held regularly until 1849. At the meeting held April twenty-eight, 1832, the name of "Providence Lyceum," was adopted, which, on the twenty-second of the following December, was changed to that of the "Franklin Lyceum," the name retained ever since. The first recorded annual meeting was held on the fifth of January, 1833, at which the officers were elected, and the first number read of "The Lyceum Star and Evening Chronicle," a manuscript Magazine, consisting of original contributions from members. Between the years 1839 and 1842, "The Franklin Lyceum Review and Miscellany," a Magazine of similar character, appeared, under various editors, and the copies have been preserved. In July 1833, there were thirteen active, and two corresponding members. In the latter part of this year steps were taken towards the formation of a library. The first public anniversary was held on the first of January 1836, at which Henry C. Whitaker delivered an address, and William M. Rodman a poem. The first public lecture before the Lyceum was delivered in 1839, by Ralph Waldo Emerson. In January, 1843, the Legislature granted an act of incorporation, under which the Lyceum now exists. The Society at this time contained thirty-one active, and twenty-four corresponding members. In the autumn of 1848, the Lyceum received an important accession to its numbers by its union with the Westminster Lyceum, a newly formed Society, which merged its separate name and existence in the Franklin Lyceum.

Digitized by Google

On the first of January following, the Society, desiring a more central location, removed to the hall No. 19 Westminster street, which they continued to occupy until November, 1858. On the nineteenth of November, 1858, formal possession was taken of the present rooms. The dedicatory exercises consisted of a procession; the uncovering of the statue of Franklin, the first public statue in Rhode Island; an oration by Francis E. Hoppin, and a poem by Henry C. Whitaker, delivered in Dr. Hall's Church, and concluded with a supper in Railroad Hall. In the autumn of 1859, a Catalogue of the Library, which then numbered about three thousand volumes, was published. In the war for the Union, a large number of the members of the Lyceum enlisted in the army or the navy; many of whom attained high positions of honor and of command. During the past ten years the growth of the Society has been rapid in every department. For several years members' courses of lectures were held in Lyceum Hall, all the lecturers being members of the Lyceum, which were largely attended and of great interest. The debates have been earnest, spirited, and, at times, exciting. The Library has increased from three, to upwards of seven thousand volumes, and many new magazines and newspapers have been added to the reading-room. During the past winter a change was made in the By-Laws, so that women may be admitted as members, on the same terms and conditions, and with the same rights and privileges as men.

Such is a brief sketch of the more important events and principal landmarks in the history of a Society, which has risen from the very humblest of beginnings to be recognized as an honor to our city, and one of its most valuable institutions. There are, at present, belonging to the Lyceum, seven hundred and sixteen active members, besides a large number on the corresponding list. The Library contains upwards of seven thousand volumes, and is constantly increasing by the addition of the best books in every department. The reading-room is well supplied with all the leading newspapers and periodicals. The meetings are held in a hall devoted solely to the exercises of the Lyceum, while the Library occupies a separate room. Earnest and spirited debates are regularly held, every Monday evening, from October to June, in which all the members are cordially invited to participate. Many of those who have been active in these debates, now occupy high places in our city, state and national councils. The system of public lectures is one of the oldest and most successful in the entire country. It is hoped that the same energy and interest, on the part of its members, which have raised the Society to its present condition, will still be manifested ; and that the Lyceum may not only maintain the high position which it has already reached, but may secure still greater success and prosperity in the future.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.

MEMBERSHIP.

SECTION 1.—Members of this Lyceum shall be divided into the following classes, viz: active members, corresponding members, honorary members, and retired members.

SEC. 2.—Active members shall comprise those who, by the payment of full taxes, are entitled to all the privileges of membership.

SEC. 3.—All candidates for active membership, must have attained the age of eighteen years, and shall be propounded by the standing committee, or, in their absence, by the chair, at a regular meeting, at least one week before admission; and the vote upon such admission shall be taken by ballot, when requested by any member.

SEC. 4.—All propositions for active membership, shall be in writing, with the name of the person propounding the same, and three other persons as referees; and no such candidate shall become a member unless said candidate shall receive four-fifths of all the ballots cast, nor until said candidate has subscribed to the constitution, and paid two dollars into the treasury.

SEC. 5,—Any person who shall have been admitted as an active member, and shall neglect to pay the admission fee, and subscribe to the constitution within three months from the time of his admission, shall be considered ineligible to membership, unless again propounded and elected.

Digitized by Google

SEC. 6.—Corresponding members shall comprise those admitted as active members, who, upon removing from the city or vicinity, shall, by a vote of the Lyceum, be placed upon that list, after procuring from the treasurer a certificate that all dues have been paid. Any corresponding member may resume his active membership, by giving notice to the secretary of his intention, within six months after his return; but, in such case, the assessment of taxes shall commence with his return.

SEC. 7.—Honorary members, shall comprise such as may be admitted in consequence of their literary or scientific attainments, or of some marked benefit conferred by them upon the Lyceum.

SEC. 8—Retired members, shall comprise those who, after an active membership of ten years, or upwards, shall make application to the Lyceum to be placed on that list; the application to be accompanied by a certificate from the treasurer, that they have paid all taxes and dues assessed against them.

SEC. 9.—None but active members shall be entitled to vote, be eligible to any office in the Lyceum, have the use of the library or apparatus, be subject to taxation, or have any owuership in any property belonging to the Lyceum; or be furnished with free tickets for any public lectures, unless by a special vote of the society.

SEC. 10.—Any member shall be entitled to dismission, by requesting it in writing, through the secretary, and producing a certificate from the treasurer of payment of all dues to the Lyceum.

SEC. 11.—Any person ceasing to be an active member, thereby relinquishes, terminates, and extinguishes all ownership and interests of himself, or of any person in his behalf, in and to any property belonging to the Lyceum, or to him as a member thereof.

SEC. 12.—Any member shall be liable to expulsion or dismission for disorderly or immoral conduct, or for neglecting, for two years, to pay his proportion of assessments or taxation. Provided always, that a motion to expel or dismiss a member, shall be made at a regular meeting two weeks previous to taking a vote thereon, and no member shall be expelled or dismissed, except by the votes of three-fourths of the members present, at a regular meeting, due notice having been given to the delinquent of the motion pending; and it shall be the duty of the treasurer to report such delinquencies.

ARTICLE II.

MEETINGS.

SECTION 1.—The Lyceum shall be convened weekly, at their room, at such time as may be appointed; except during the interval for which the society may adjourn, in the warm season; and every alteration of the day or hour of the regular meetings shall be recorded one week before it takes effect.

SEC. 2.—Eight members shall constitute a quorum, for the ordinary business of the Lyceum, but no alteration shall be made in the by-laws or rules of order, unless, at least, twenty-five members are present, and voting on the question.

SEC. 3.—A special meeting shall be called by the President, at any time, at the request of eight members; and the secretary shall notify the members of such meeting.

SEC. 4.—At every meeting of the Lyceum, the proceedings of the meeting next previous shall be read, before the transaction of any other business, unless otherwise ordered by a vote of two-thirds of the members voting.

SEC. 5.—In addition to the officers named in the charter, there shall be a lecture committee and a question committee, chosen at each annual meeting, in the manner hereafter provided.

SEC. 6.—The lecture committee shall consist of three members. At the annual election of 1860, three members shall be elected: one to serve one year, one to serve two years, and one to serve three years, and at each succeeding election one member shall be elected to serve three years; but vacancies may be filled at any time.

Digitized by Google

SEC. 7.—The question committee shall consist of three members to be elected annually.

ARTICLE III.

EXERCISES.

SECTION 1.—The prominent exercises of the Lyceum shall be lectures, debates, and discussions.

SEC. 2.—On the first Monday evening in each month, there may be a lecture, on which occasion visitors may be admitted; and debates on the other evenings; and no person, not a member, shall be allowed to lecture, except by vote of the Lyceum.

SEC. 3.—There may be an anniversary celebration of the Lyceum, during the first week in January, of every year, when there may be an oration and a poem, the orator and poet to be elected by the society, from among its members, at the second regular meeting in January.

ARTICLE IV.

MANNER OF BALLOTING.

In all elections requiring a ballot, three tellers shall be appointed by the chair, and each member, as he deposits his ballot, in a box on the table for that purpose, shall announce his name, and it shall be checked by the secretary.

ARTICLE V.

OFFICERS.

SECTION 1.—PRESIDENT.—In addition to the duties prescribed in article III, of the constitution, it shall be the duty of the presiding officer to supply vacancies in the offices of the Lyceum, until the same are otherwise supplied; to state the business on record to be transacted; to sign certificates of membership; to appoint all committees, unless otherwise ordered by the society; and he may, at any time, supply his place in the chair during debate, but shall resume the same at the request of three members.

Sec. 2.—It shall be the duty of the secretary to make and preserve a record of all donations and loans, with the names of the donors and lenders, and such information relating to donations and loans, as the Lyceum may deem proper; to read the record of the preceding meeting; to notify candidates of their admission; to give certificates of membership under the seal of the Lyceum; and, at all times, to keep distinct and correct lists of the several classes of members of the Lyceum, in alphabetical order. He shall also, keep and preserve, at all times, a correct copy of the by-laws and rules of order of the Lyceum, together with such alterations therein and amendments thereto, as may, from time to time, be made. It shall, also, be the duty of the secretary to give to all the regularly appointed disputants, written notice of their appointments, at least four days previous to the evening for debate; and, also, to notify the members of all committees of their appointment, and of the object of such appointment.

Sec. 3.—It shall be the duty of the treasurer elect, before he enters upon the duties of his office, to give a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars, with one or more sureties, to be appointed by the standing committee, to the Franklin Lyceum, to secure the Lyceum from all loss, arising from any dereliction of duty, on the part of the treasurer, in the collection, preservation, or disbursement of the sums committed to his charge or from any failure, on his part, to pay over to the Lyceum, or to his legally appointed successor, any sums of money, in his hands, belonging to the Lyceum, or which may be owing from him to the Lyceum, whenever called upon to do so.

Sec. 4.—It shall be the duty of the question committee, to select a question, and report the same at each regular meeting, for discussion on the second Monday evening next following. It shall, also, be their duty to select and appoint two disputants to open the discussion, one in the affirmative and one in the negative.

ARTICLE VI.

SALARIES OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.

THE secretary, treasurer and librarian, shall receive a fair compensation for their services, to be determined at the annual meeting. It shall remain as at present established, until changed at such annual meeting, and shall, in no case, be increased or diminished at any other time.

ARTICLE VII.

TAXATION.

SECTION 1.—The expenses of the Lyceum shall be defrayed by an equal tax on each active member, not exceeding the sum of four dollars per annum, but no tax shall be collected unless assessed by a vote of the Lyceum. The secretary at the time of such assessment, and the treasurer who shall collect a tax, when so assessed, shall be exempt from the payment of such tax.

SEC. 2.—No member whose tax shall be due and unpaid for one or more years, before the first day of January, in each and every year, shall be entitled to the privilege of taking books from the Library, while such tax shall remain unpaid, the names of such persons in arrears to be communicated to the librarian by the treasurer before the last day of each year.

ARTICLE VIII.

LIBRARY.

SECTION 1.—There shall be elected, at each annual meeting, a committee of six, who, together with the librarian, shall constitute the library committee for the year ensuing; and such library committee shall have the sole control and regulation of the library, and shall direct the librarian in the discharge of his duties, and expend such appropriations as may, from time to time, be made by the Lyceum for the library, and any four shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business that may properly devolve upon such committee.

SEC. 2.—The Lyceum shall annually appropriate, on the first Monday evening in each year, a specific sum for the benefit of the library, to be expended under the direction of the library committee.

ARTICLE IX.

CABINET.

SECTION 1.—The cabinet and scientific collections, shall be under the care and control of the cabinet keeper.

SEC. 2.—All specimens and articles, of every kind whatever, deposited in the cabinet, or either of its departments, shall belong to the Lyceum, unless otherwise specified at the time of deposit.

ARTICLE X.

ALTERATION OF LAWS.

SECTION 1.—No application shall be made to the General Assembly, for any alteration or amendment of the charter of this Lyceum, without a motion to make such alteration or amendment shall have been made at a regular meeting, and recorded on the journal, at least two weeks previous to taking the vote thereon; nor unless it receives the votes of three-fourths of all the members present.

SEC. 2.—No by-law or rule of order shall be enacted, amended, or repealed, unless on motion made and recorded one week; nor unless two-thirds of those present, vote in favor of such motion.

SEC. 3.—Any rule of order may be suspended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

RULES OF ORDER.

FIRST.

THE following shall be the order of exercises at all regular meetings of the Lyceum, viz :

1. The proceedings of the previous meeting shall be read and mistakes, if any, corrected.
2. General business.
3. Dissertations.
4. Debate or lecture.

SECOND.

THE ayes and noes shall be entered on the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present.

THIRD.

WHEN two or more members rise at once, the presiding officer shall name the one to speak first.

FOURTH.

ANY member, on being called to order, shall immediately sit down, unless permitted by the President to explain, and the Lyceum shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate.

FIFTH.

EVERY member present, when a question is put, shall give his vote, unless excused by the Lyceum.

Digitized by Google

SIXTH.

When a motion has been made and carried, in the affirmative, or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for a reconsideration of the same.

SEVENTH.

No motion shall be debated or put unless the same shall have been seconded; when seconded, it shall be stated by the President before debate, and shall be reduced to writing at the request of the President, or any member.

EIGHTH.

The disputants appointed to open the question, shall speak first, and then the other members appointed, in their order, and after these have spoken, the question shall be open for general discussion by the members of the Lyceum.

NINTH.

The disputants opening the question, may speak not exceeding twenty minutes, and no other person shall speak more than ten minutes, either in the debate, or in the discussion of any business before the Lyceum, except by unanimous consent. When the time of any member speaking shall have expired, notice thereof shall be given him by the chair.

TENTH.

A motion to adjourn, to lay on the table, and the previous question, shall be decided without debate, but no motion to adjourn shall be repeated until some other business has intervened. Except as above provided, a motion to adjourn shall always be in order.

ELEVENTH.

When any motion whatever, or other matter, shall have been laid upon the table, the same shall not be taken up until the next meeting, unless distinctly stated in the motion to lay on the table, that it is laid on the table for a specific purpose.

ARTICLE

ON THE ADOPTION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1.—This constitution shall go into operation on the meeting of the Lyceum next after its adoption.

SEC. 2—All existing constitutions, laws, rules, or regulations of the Lyceum, which are inconsistent with this charter, constitution, and by-laws, are hereby repealed; provided, however, that all officers and committees already elected or appointed, shall continue in the discharge of their duties, to such offices as this constitution provides.

REGULATIONS

THE LIBRARY.

ARTICLE 1.—The Library shall be kept open on such days and at such hours as the Library Committee may direct.

ART. 2.—All books and pamphlets shall be legibly marked with the words "Franklin Lyceum," and if donations to the institution, shall, unless otherwise requested, be inserted with the names of the donors, in such manner as may be directed.

ART. 3.—Every person entitled to the privileges of the Library, shall be allowed to take out two volumes and no more at a time, and may retain the same two weeks; and every person shall be subjected to a fine of two cents per day for every volume retained beyond the above specified period; and no book shall be renewed unless the same shall have been in the Library at least three months.

ART. 4.—Every book shall be returned in good order, regard being had to the reasonable wear thereof. If any book shall be lost, or injured, the person to whom it stands charged shall replace it by a new volume, or set, if it belong to a set, or pay the value thereof, as determined by the Library Committee, and thereupon the remainder of the set, if it belong to one, shall be delivered to the person paying therefor.

ART, 5.—No Book shall be delivered to any one, excepting a member of the Franklin Lyceum, or upon the written order of a member.

ART. 6.—The Librarian shall have power to prohibit the removal of books from the shelves, whenever he may deem such removal improper.

ART. 7.—No periodical or pamphlet shall be taken from the Library, until the same shall be bound in a volume.

ART. 8.—All books shall be returned on or before the first day of September, in each and every year, and at such other times as the library committee may order, when a careful examination of the library shall be made ; and any person neglecting to conform to this rule sball be liable to such penalty, not exceeding ten dollars, as may be directed by the committee.

ART. 9.—It shall be the duty of the librarian and assistant to maintain the strictest order and decorum in the library rooms, and to enforce and exact observance of the regulations pertaining thereto ; to deliver books to those entitled to them, to examine each book on its return to the library before it is permitted to be taken out again, or is replaced on the shelves, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any injury has been done to the same, and who is responsible therefor, and to place in their proper position all maps or plates that may have been wrongly folded ; to preserve in proper order all books, pamphlets and charts, before permiting them to be used ; to record, in a book kept for that purpose, all donations to the Library ; keep a regular account of all fines incurred, and collect and pay the same over to the treasurer, and report to the library committee, all donations and communications received by him, and all violations of the regulations of his department.

ART. 10.—For their better preservation, the librarian shall cover the books with thick paper previously to their being taken from the library, and require that they be returned in like order.

ART. 11.—Any book taken out by a member shall first be returned to the Library before it can be taken out by another, and when so returned shall be delivered to the first one who shall apply for it, and no book shall be reserved or promised by the librarian in any case whatever.

ART. 12.—Books, pamphlets, or other articles not the property of the Lyceum, may be deposited in the library, under the regulations of the library, and all deposits shall be at the risk of the owners.

ART. 13.—Every person shall be held responsible for any book charged to him on the librarian's book, unless he attend to the erasing of the entry thereof, or unless the word "returned" be written against it on his returning the same to the librarian.

ART. 14.—All books shall remain one week on a table in the reading-room, after being purchased or presented.

ART. 15.—No periodical, pamphlet, or book of reference, which may be placed on the tables in the reading room shall be taken from said room.

ART. 16.—Any person taking a book or periodical from the library contrary to the regulations, shall be liable to forfeit his right to the privileges of the library for one year ; and if any individual shall mutilate or deface any book or other property in the library rooms, he shall be subject to such forfeiture of his rights or privileges in the library as may be directed by the library committee.
